Philadelphians
SPOKE OUT

against the beverage tax
last year.

Rehashing a bad idea
doesn't make it a good one.

Last year the people of Philadelphia came together and voiced their opposition to ANY new beverage tax.

The Mayor is once again taking aim at Philadelphia
families with a tax on groceries like sodas, juice drinks,
teas, sports drinks, and even fountain sodas.

We can't afford bad ideas or new taxes.

Tell the Mayor, Philadelphia still opposes the beverage tax.
